

One day, an innocent transfer student named Ek figured out one thing: she could transmute anything into anything else. She was able to transform matter into thoughts, feelings, and dreams. Suddenly she became the most popular person on campus - everyone wanted to be friends with her and what's more, they wanted her to do tricks for them. The only problem is that all this magic comes with a price- each transmutation takes away something vital from the surrounding environment until there is nothing left but dust in the wind... In this heart-warming live action animation by director Shintaro Kago, Ek learns this harsh truth about her new life when she realizes that there is no power without responsibility and no pride without humility. Will she be able to learn the hard way and save her friends?

The movie was released on DVD by Subdued Corporation on June 25, 2005.
