This article will take an in-depth look at Photoshop, its capabilities, and of course its features. 1. A Brief Overview of Photoshop First off, what is Photoshop? Photoshop is Adobe's professional image editing program. Photoshop began development in 1987 and was initially released in 1990. The current version of Photoshop is CS6, released in 2012. Many people were initially intrigued by Photoshop because it offered the possibility of producing incredibly professional-looking images. At the same time, because it was designed as a power tool for professionals, it was generally very expensive. Fortunately, since the creation of Photoshop, prices have decreased significantly and its features have also improved. Today, one version costs less than $1000. It's important to note that there is a wide range of higher-end options as well, so a not-so-top-of-the-line version can still cost less than $1000. The bottom line is that Photoshop has changed a lot over the years and advanced features can be very helpful. Just like many other programs, the trick is finding out which features you need, and which you can do without. 2. After what has been a wild year, the Bulls are receiving a starry player of the year, maybe the second star if that second star is No. 3 overall or more, or maybe the third star. Larry Bird of the Pacers is the clear favorite. He's a two-time winner (1980-81, '81-82) for the best pro player in the Eastern Conference. He was the top three-point shooter last season, he's a career 48 percent shooter from the field, and while he's not a prolific passer, he does have a deft touch with the ball. They don't have an ideal candidate for the center position, and they don't have anyone to run the point, even though point guard Mike James has been a better passer than he is a scorer. So, another candidate could go No. 1 if he's healthy, not counting among the top of the list, but certainly someone on the list. The Heat's LeBron James, by many accounts the best player in the NBA, is the final guard in a voting group that includes the Celtics' Paul Pierce, the Clippers' Chris Paul and the Grizzlies' Zach Randolph. Paul Pierce has been a top-five player four times. But this is the first season he has been in the top three. He wasn't in that position last season. He was No. 8 at the end of the season and was a little higher in the early going. So, it is a jump. Pierce is a three-time All-Star. He's the only active player who has been selected in the All-Star Game in back-to-back seasons, but he has missed five playoff games in the last six seasons. He is the reigning Sixth Man of the Year, voted on by coaches. He is an elite defender and he is a solid offensive player. He's durable. He plays hard. There's no denying his efficiency. He is a 10-time All-Star, second to Kobe Bryant among active players. He won the 2003-04 Most Valuable Player Award. He has a chance at a second MVP this season and a chance to be the only active player to reach 30,000 points. The Heat are 29-15, third in the Eastern Conference. They have the best record in the East and the best record in the NBA. They are also in the playoffs for the fourth straight year. The Thunder are likely to fall out of the top four.

WHEN the woman, whose name has not been released, left the Blenheim home about 10.30am on Wednesday she took several jars, a sock, clothes, a mobile phone and some money with her. "We lost everything," she told the Stuff Motoring campaign. "They stole everything." "She took the car. It wasn't in the driveway." The woman said the ex-boyfriend, who has been identified as a "Tasmanian", had taken the keys with him. "He's supposed to have gone to work, but he's not answering his phone," she said. "We don't know where he is. "His car was parked in the driveway when I left." The woman said it was only her former partner she had been in contact with for the past 10 months. She said she had met the man on Craiglist and they had "locked eyes" after exchanging more than 100 phone messages and three video calls. "I can't believe what happened. I was just blown away." Police confirmed yesterday that the incident was being investigated and that the two people who remained at the address had been identified and were yet to give their side of the story. Anyone with information has been asked to contact the Blenheim Police Station on (03) 450 3000.Q: SharePoint and XSD I have been asked to create a custom field type to display a checkbox for tick or untick. I have read online that it is very difficult to create custom field types and even if you do create it, some fields may not display it. I have then learnt that using XPath queries to create an XSD then converting the XML into a C# class and then merging it into your sharepoint project. I haven't seen any examples anywhere online of doing this. I have a step by step guide that takes you through the process as I only just started at work 2 days ago. Would really appreciate any help with this as it seems to be a very complex task to even begin. Thanks for any help. A: I haven't tried it yet myself, but Visual Studio has a field type wizard. The SharePoint field type wizard provides a
